

Annual Conference and AGM, Club Hotel, Roma
Saturday, 25th June, 2011, with Meet and Greet on the Friday evening

Rights Undermined

Court Cases, ERMP, Wild Rivers

At our Roma conference we will report on our latest court appearances and spend some time on the Wild Rivers and Barrier Reef Environmental Risk management Plan's regulations as landowner's rights in these areas will be offered for green preferences to get a victory in the Ashgrove electorate in the next election where Labor minister, Kate Jones, needs to hold the seat from Campbell Newman's challenge.

Thoughts from interstate

A speaker in the first session will be John Darley, an Independent member of the South Australian Legislative Council, who believes that all "takings" of rights by all tiers of government should be fully compensated. In an earlier career as a public servant he was Valuer General in the 1980's when SA landowners were fully compensated for vegetation retention.

Wild Rivers

Mrs Annie Clarke, the Mayor of Burke Shire in the gulf, will give us an insight into the administration of the Wild Rivers Act in the gulf and peninsular, supported by Stuart Mackenzie from "Plevna Downs" in the south western Channel Country, a proposed Wild Rivers area.

Coal Seam Gas

Under the conference theme, Rights Undermined, Ian Hayllor, chairman of the Coal Seam Gas group, Basin Sustainability Alliance, will feature landowner problems with coal seam gas mining. Supporting Ian, landowners, Graham Clapham, Megan and Dave Baker, Richard Golden, Neville Stiller and others will recount their experiences with CSG contractors.

Balancing Vested Interests

A session after lunch is open to anyone, including any of the six current politicians who have been invited, to suggest a way forward with some balance. Opposition leader in the house, Jeff Seeney is checking his diary. We hope you can attend and assist to reach a satisfactory outcome for our property rights.

Meet and Greet

Some of our guests, including John Darley and Peter Manuel will be present at the Meet and Greet on Friday evening, Club Hotel, 6.30pm. Peter is founder of the recently formed Food Producers and Landowners Action Group South Australia (FLAGSA).

All welcome.
